

Our Vision

At Racing Unleashed, we create the most engaging motorsports experience that is accessible to everyone everywhere. We strive to break barriers and bring the thrill of racing to enthusiasts of all backgrounds.

As a Technical Project Manager at Racing Unleashed, you will be at the heart of our technology team, leading and coordinating software development projects to ensure flawless execution. Your technical knowledge, leadership, and project management expertise will be essential in delivering high-quality solutions on time, helping us stay ahead in the competitive sim-racing industry.

Technical Project Manager (m/w/d)

We Offer

As a Technical Project Manager at Racing Unleashed, you'll be at the centre of driving innovation and success in our dynamic sim-racing ecosystem. Your journey will be enriched by working closely with a highly experienced CIO and a talented team, providing you with the opportunity to significantly impact high-profile projects.

- Be part of a fast-growing startup in the motorsport industry, pushing the boundaries of technology from Switzerland.
- Collaborate with a passionate and driven team where your ideas and leadership will be valued and recognized.
- Work in a cutting-edge environment that encourages innovation, autonomy, and continuous learning.
- Take ownership of projects, leading from concept to delivery, with the freedom to shape and influence critical decisions.
- Contribute to building world-class racing experiences that redefine the future of esports. Enjoy a collaborative, supportive work culture that fosters creativity and personal growth.

Your Responsibilities

- Define project scope, goals, and deliverables in collaboration with cross-functional teams.
- Create and manage project timelines, budgets, and resource plans to ensure on-time delivery.
- Anticipate risks and implement effective mitigation strategies to avoid delays.
- Leverage technical expertise in software development, particularly in gaming and esports, to guide project decisions.
- Understand and provide input on the technical aspects of our community portals, racing game, and data platform.
- Lead and motivate development teams, ensuring tasks are completed on schedule and to specification.
- Facilitate clear communication between technical and non-technical stakeholders.
- Provide regular project updates and host status meetings to keep all teams aligned.
- Oversee quality assurance processes, ensuring deliverables meet industry standards.
- Identify and resolve potential risks, ensuring minimal impact on project timelines.
- Efficiently manage project resources, including human capital and technology.
- Maintain up-to-date project documentation and ensure technical teams provide accurate documentation.
- Promote continuous improvement by identifying areas for optimization and adopting industry best practices.
- Stay informed on industry trends and emerging technologies in gaming and esports to enhance project outcomes.
